SECRET SHAME

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Ex-council leader Derek Osbourne created a "fantasy online family" to share images and made-up stories of child sex abuse with other paedophiles.

The disgraced 59-year-old married father of two had spent the past two years secretly viewing violent and sexual images of children, animals and women.

Southwark Crown Court heard on Tuesday how the former Liberal Democrat leader posted fake photos of a fictional family, headed by Dave Strider and his daughter "Susie", on a Yahoo group where he shared some of the vile pictures.

Prosecutor Peter Zinner said: "This is a spectacular fall from grace for an individual that was in a position of significant public trust.

"He must have known that what he was doing would significantly contribute to the cycle of harm suffered by victims of child sexual abuse and exploitation."

The court heard how Osbourne immediately confessed he had "progressed" from adult pornography when he was arrested at his home in Burlington Road, New Malden, on June 11.

Sentencing Osbourne – a Kingston councillor since 1986 – to two years in prison, Recorder of Westminster Alistair McCreath said: "I do not know what people who view these sort of images actually think.

"But it's important to say that these images are of real children suffering real abuse."

Osbourne, wearing a blue suit and pink shirt and sporting a Remembrance poppy, nodded at the judge, collected his bag and walked to the cells after being sentenced. His name was added to the sex offenders' register for 10 years.

His legal team released a statement on his behalf apologising to his family and the people of Kingston for "letting them down badly".

Room scarce for mental health patients as 150 beds removed

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Mental health patients are being turned away from hospital after South West London and St George's NHS Mental Health Trust (SWLSTG) removed more than 150 beds in the past two years.

Data revealed in a joint investigation by Community Care magazine and BBC News found the trust, that operates from nearly 100 locations, has removed 177 beds from 18 wards and closed five.

Figures released by 28 UK mental health trusts showed it was running at an average of more than 100 per cent capacity, well above the recommended 85 per cent level. SWLSTG failed to answer a Freedom of Information request on occupancy levels, but said it had closed 177 beds in the past two years.

An annual report stated the trust had just 430 beds to deal with 2,500 inpatients admitted in 2012-13.

Seacole ward, at the trust's headquarters Springfield Hospital, in Tooting, was one of the worst affected wards, with 22 beds removed in 2011.

The adult acute ward, which treats young adults aged up to 23, now has only eight beds, with money being pumped into home treatment instead.

Petersham Lodge, at Barnes Hospital, also had 22 beds closed between 2011 and 2012.

The drugs and alcohol service in Springfield Hospital was decommissioned in 2012 - losing 13 beds - as well as the rehab centre Burntwood Villas, in Earlsfield.

Gerry Horner, of Keep Our NHS Public, said: "One observer has told us of seeing patients on an admission ward being transferred to other wards or even to other hospitals, thus disrupting their treatment, in order to make way for new arrivals.

"One new patient admitted under section was observed waiting for hours before a bed, which had been booked, actually became available.

"Such a situation would obviously impair the ability of nurses and doctors to reassure and welcome new patients."

A spokeswoman for SWLSTG said: "Most of this reduction has been due to reinvestment in crisis home and treatment teams leading to a reduction in bed use and ward closure.

"Hospital admission is only used when absolutely necessary.

"Furthermore, we do not routinely move people into mental health beds outside south-west London.

"We have briefly used privately-owned accommodation when wards are being re-configured and are not intending to use this measure again as we have sufficient space on our wards."

Mystery: works in Surbiton

Thames Water wades in to debate on repairs

Businesses can claim compensation for loss of profit from sewer repairs in Surbiton, Thames Water has said in an email to shopkeepers.

Shops in Surbiton claim they are losing up to 60 per cent of trade because of mystery concrete debris in the sewer that has caused Victoria Road to partially close since the beginning of October.

Kingston Council leader Councillor Liz Green said: "It is quite right that the businesses should get recompense for that loss.

"We need the road to be back open and running properly in the run up to Christmas."

Woman warns of 'dangerous' junction

A New Malden woman who was involved in a traffic collision has spoken out about a dangerous junction.

Roxanne Georgiani, 46, of Orme Road, was taken to hospital after the crash last Thursday evening.

She said the junction, between Coombe Lane West and Traps Lane, was confusing for drivers.

She said: "How it is set up at the moment is very awkward for drivers.

"Especially if they are not familiar with the area they get a bit confused.

"I pass by that area quite often and I know for a fact pedestrians are a bit confused when they get to that slip road.

"One day it will be fatal."

Rape charge

A man has been charged with the attempted murder and rape of a pensioner. Robert Richards, 22, of Pear Tree Close, Chessington, appeared before Wimbledon magistrates on Saturday. He is to appear before Kingston Crown Court on November 8.

St Jude's storm causes havoc with Monday morning commute

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Commuters were stranded, cars were damaged and fallen trees were strewn across the streets as one of the worst storms to hit Britain in years swept through Kingston this week.

The dreaded St Jude's storm arrived as expected in the early hours of Monday morning, leaving a trail of destruction and debris in its wake.

Rail passengers across the borough soon gave up trying to get to work, as South West Trains cancelled all services on its network until mid-afternoon.

Fallen trees blocked roads in Surbiton, Chessington and Malden Manor, while scaffolding fell on a car in Etwell Place, Kingston.

Meanwhile, the entire roof of an office building in Kingston Road,

Take a bough: Clearing the debris after the storm close to Chessington World of Adventures, was ripped off by the powerful winds.

Despite the chaos, St Jude failed to match up to the destruction wreaked by the famous storm of 1987, when 443 trees belonging to Kingston Council were blown down.

Weather expert Ian Currie, founder of Weather Eye magazine, said: "It wasn't anything like the storm of 1987, although it was still quite powerful."

"October is often a time of great storms. Apart from 1987 we've also had the storm of October 25, 1959, which was very bad in our area, and also led to the first forecast."

"A great-grandfather of mine also died in a terrible storm in 1881. "The temperature of the Atlantic Ocean is much warmer than usual, but it is getting very chilly in the Arctic. This often leads to a strong jet stream."

"When that meets an area of low pressure, it can cause a vortex in the atmosphere, which deepens."

"That's what happened to us on Sunday."

"We've had a number of worse storms but nonetheless it wasn't weak - it certainly packed a punch."

We don't want nuclear – says Davey in 2006

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Energy Secretary Edward Davey was caught up in a PR controversy last week after statements expressing his formerly held anti-nuclear beliefs were deleted from his constituency website.

The Kingston and Surbiton MP announced a £16bn deal on Monday with French energy company EDF to build a new nuclear plant, Hinckley Point C, in Somerset.

But he was quickly chided after press releases from several years ago, in which Mr Davey opposed nuclear energy, were removed from his website.

Political opponents found his previous statements on Google, and tweeted them.

They included a statement, from July 2006, in which Mr Davey said: "A new generation of nuclear power stations will cost taxpayers and consumers tens of billions of pounds... people don't want nuclear... the alternatives are cleaner, safer, greener and better for the environment and the taxpayer."

Mr Davey said in a statement on October 22 he expected the plan to have a "wide range of reactions" within the Liberal Democrat Party, because of his previously staunch anti-nuclear stance.

He said: "I've changed my mind because of climate change."

But Kingston Labour chairman Laurie South said: "It's quite OK to change your mind, as long as you tell everyone you have changed your mind."

"People will have much more respect for that kind of thing than the subtle deleting of past comments."

Changed his mind on nuclear energy: Edward Davey

Aftermath: Police at the scene following the crash in Tolworth Broadway

Woman hurt after car shunt along Broadway

by JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A woman was taken to hospital with head injuries after a traffic crash in Tolworth Broadway.

Her Citroen hatchback was struck by another car from behind at about 10.45am on Tuesday, October 22.

It is thought she had braked to avoid hitting pedestrians who were crossing the road near the petrol station, using the new Greenway central reservation.

The woman, in her 30s, was attended by shopkeepers and passersby who lent her a blanket and a pillow as she lay on the pavement.

Builders working on the Greenway reacted quickly to the crash, using traffic cones to divert drivers around the cars involved.

The rear windscreen of the woman's car had been smashed, with extensive damage to the boot and rear bumper.

The Greenway is designed to allow pedestrians to cross wherever is most convenient.

Former Labour Councillor Douglas Reynolds, who campaigned for the old safety barriers to go in, said: "It is what I expected."

"It is frightening to drive down the Broadway now. It is frightening with the way people just walk across the road."

Councillor Malcolm Self,

Controversial: Construction of the Greenway

chairman of the Surbiton neighbourhood committee, said a further assessment of the road's safety will be made once work is finished.

He said: "Those safety audits will obviously take into account incidents that have happened. I would have to be guided by the safety audit, guided by the experts."

"Everyone hopes that this is not going to repeat. Absolutely no road is 100 per cent safe. Wherever someone crosses a road they have got to be careful of traffic."

One online commenter said: "I strongly suspect that this is just the first of many similar accidents on Tolworth Broadway."

"The decision by Kingston Council to remove the central barrier and thus allow people to cross the Broadway at any point has never made any sense."

Another said: "We will probably never know how many accidents or near misses don't get reported and all because of these idiotic 'improvements'."

"I was there early Friday evening [October 18] and witnessed three near misses, people risking life and limb to cross a busy main road, a major artery into Kingston to catch a bus or just get to the other side."

A spokeswoman for London Ambulance said paramedics were called to the Broadway at 10.45am on October 22.

She said they treated a woman, believed to be in her 30s, for a head injury.

Will the new Greenway be safe? Email letters@kingstonguardian.co.uk.

Wheelchair user's concerns

People with disabilities will find it difficult to negotiate the new Tolworth Broadway, a campaigner has said.

Consultant Adam Lotun, of Knollmead, who uses a wheelchair, took the Kingston Guardian on a tour of the new Greenway, to point out problems he has spotted.

He said he was worried about crossing points with no traffic lights, lack of tactile paving in key places, and the suggestion of cyclists speeding along the green central reservation.

The Greenway was designed to allow people to cross the road "any point they choose", according to Kingston Council's website

The website's background information continued: "Formal pedestrian crossing points, both signalled and unsignalled, will be provided for those who wish to use them."

Mr Lotun said he would be unable to see around larger vehicles which stopped to let pedestrians cross at unsignalled points.

He said: "For me the only way to get across is the two ends. There is no way I will use an unmanned crossing."

But of the timed crossing at the end of the Broadway, he said: "The crossing is too long for people who are slow moving."

He was also concerned by the lack of audio confirmation that it is safe to cross at the roundabout end of the road.

Mr Lotun met a council officer recently to air concerns.

South of the borough neighbourhood committee chairman Councillor Rachel Reid said: "Overall we want the scheme up and running and working for everyone."

"If that is the case with wheelchairs [crossing the road] it is not fulfilling what we wanted."

Fears: Adam Lotun

Lowest crime in the capital

Kingston has recorded the lowest crime figures in London, according to statistics released by the Metropolitan Police.

Mayor of London Boris Johnson's deputy Stephen Greenhalgh visited Oceana nightclub last Friday to see its contribution to the lower crime figures.

The borough had 9,593 recorded incidents in the 12 months up to September this year, including 2,073 violent assaults, 1,265 burglaries, 45 rapes and two murders. The numbers are down 12.5 per cent on last year, when police dealt with 10,959 crimes.

The biggest individual drop was in robbery of a person, which fell almost 40 per cent from 223 incidences to 160.

Violence on a person also fell considerably, down from 2,338 to 2,073, while the total number of burglaries was down by 8.2 per cent.

Individual crimes all fell except for sexual offences excluding rape, which increased by eight to 100 incidents, and Islamophobia, which doubled from two incidents to four.

But the number of crimes solved stayed static at 21 per cent.

Binge-drink callouts 'a waste of resources'

Paramedics in Kingston are being called out thousands of times each year to deal with the repercussions of binge drinking and violence, including assaults on women and teenagers.

London Ambulance figures show alcohol was the number one crime or antisocial behaviour reason for paramedics to rush out to the borough's streets between August 2011 and August this year.

The figures show ambulance workers attended 1,293 binge drinking callouts.

Kingston Councillor Geoff Austin said: "This is certainly not a good use of resources. Ambulances ideally should be called to serious incidents.

"Binge drinking is not really something ambulance crews should be dealing with."

Graham Snelling, chairman of Kingston Healthwatch, said:

"Kingston is a town that has a considerable number of pubs and clubs so I suppose it kind of goes with that. But it is a concern.

"There is no room for complacency – we have got to drive these figures down. People who need an ambulance need an ambulance but we have got to minimise the numbers for binge drinkers."

Ambulances were also called to 1,031 assaults during the same period, including 268 against women and 141 against teenagers.

More paramedics are being recruited after London Ambulance's medical director admitted a shortage during the inquest of a Worcester Park Christian missionary left waiting for more than an hour for an ambulance.

Dr Fionna Moore told the inquest of Nicolette Clarke, 49, who died after a cardiac arrest: "It has become apparent that we give a poorer response time in the last 12 months – our staff are exceptionally highly utilised."

A spokesman said this week: "We have worked with our commissioners to establish what capacity we need to meet increases in demand, and are now in the process of recruiting more staff to help respond to patients who need an emergency ambulance.

"This includes qualified paramedics, although as our medical director Dr Moore stated at the inquest there are fewer of these available across the country."

Food store's workers angry over police raid

by JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

Workers at a specialist South African food shop have claimed they were treated "like animals" during a raid by police and immigration officials.

Officers went into Bizzi B's, in Surbiton Road, Kingston, on the morning of Tuesday, October 22.

Butcher Shaun Powell, 29, said: "They just came storming in unannounced. They basically just told us to put our things down and rounded us up like animals."

"They didn't tell us who they were or what they were doing here. Very little information was given."

"We were told under no circumstances to even think about running, because we would be taken down, and taken down hard."

"The way we were treated was disgusting."

Colleague Jason Chappell, 20, said: "They lined us all up. No explanation."

"Everyone was kind of panicking and shaking, and we didn't know what to do."

"He told us 'If you are going to run I will take you down hard'. It was very all in your face."

Manager Andrew Duncan said: "About three of them marched through, saying 'Is there anyone in the back?' It was like a drug bust."

Raided: Jason Chappell, Lee Duncan and Shaun Powell KT80352

But the manager of Londis, just a few doors away, who asked not to be named, said there were no problems with officials who came into his shop.

They were not rude, he said.

Chief Inspector Gary Taylor, of Kingston police, said: "Entry to any property is recorded locally. We do many joint operations with the UK Border Agency in order to determine persons not legally in the UK."

"We have to be mindful of safety of all the officers and, therefore, this part of any inspection can appear robust. I would hope that with this robustness comes politeness."

A Home Office spokesman said: "These were police-led visits under Operation Condor, which is designed to clamp down on abuses by licence-holders in commercial premises."

"No suspected immigration offenders were encountered."

Plans for a fleet of advertising vans displaying the message "Go home or face arrest" were scrapped last week after a test run in parts of the capital.

Home Secretary Theresa May said they were "too blunt an instrument".

Ghouls come out in dead of night

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

Bloodthirsty vampires, wart-ridden witches and ghostly ghouls were let loose in Surbiton on Sunday, ahead of All Hallows' Eve.

Innocent bystanders were duly spooked by the annual Seething Halloween Walk, organised by the State of Seething group.

Creators of the night feast-up on the souls of the unfortunate living – as well as jacket potatoes served up with tomato-based blood sauce.

Co-organiser Robin Hutchinson said: "Some of the best [dressed] were the kids, because you get those who come dressed as an entire skeleton, and you get those who come dressed as a princess."

"It's not just about celebrating the undead, it's about celebrating Disney as well."

"You've got little toddlers running around dressed in the most nightmarish costumes."

Turnout for the hour-long event was excellent, he said.

He said: "It was undoubtedly the best yet. You just realise that some of these events are working their way into people's calendars.

"It was the biggest crowd we have had, and the mix of ages was absolutely fantastic."

Chessington World of Adventures is also hosting a hocus pocus-themed few weeks with the opportunity for visitors to take rides in the dark, see animals by night and be prodded by dangerous Draculas roaming through Transylvania.

Kingston town centre will also embrace Halloween when visitors to the town centre are taken on a tour of some of the town's best-kept secrets of murderous step-mothers, gruesome punishments and ghastly hauntings on October 31, from Market House at 6pm.

There will also be a night market from 5.30pm full of Halloween-themed goodies in Market Place.

Children who prefer a bit of hands on Halloween action can pop into Old Malden library in Church Road, Worcester Park, for some spider web and spooky puppet making on October 31.

Spooks: Get dressed up this Halloween

'Pretending to be cop'

A man has appeared in court accused of pretending to be a police officer and handcuffing another man.

Alfie-George Baker, 37, of Cheltenham Close, New Malden, is accused of telling Antony Burton he was under arrest and handcuffing him in Marina Avenue, New Malden, on October 6.

An assault charge was withdrawn when he appeared at Wimbledon Magistrates' Court on Tuesday, October 22.

Mr Baker, who will return to court on November 8, was told not to enter Marina Avenue or Joseph Hood rec as part of his conditional bail.

History today

Surbiton Historical Society will host two public lectures next month at Surbiton library hall in Ewell Road.

On November 5 at 7.45pm, Paul Lang will give a talk on the history of Ealing Film Studios, and on November 19, at 2pm, Andrea Camera will talk on the history of Pears soap.

And at the society's Christmas social on December 3, Richard Holmes will give a lecture on Surbiton's pubs.

Fuel hikes 'leave families struggling to pay for food'

Food help: Tricia Seymour, from Budgens in Ewell Road, Tolworth, hands over a hamper worth £100 to foodbank director Paul Pickhaver. The store ran a 'virtual harvest' campaign during September

by ROSS LOGAN

ross.logan@london.newsquest.co.uk

The director of Kingston Foodbank has warned the rising cost of energy bills is leaving an increasing number of residents poor and hungry.

In the week three of the six major power companies announced substantial price hikes, Paul Pickhaver said residents were already calling the charity having forgone food shopping to pay gas and electricity bills.

Mr Pickhaver said: "Already this week we have had two calls from people specifically mentioning that their large energy bills are the reason they don't have money for food."

"One of the calls was from a hardworking but low income family who simply couldn't make ends meet as their income was static but costs for so many items was rising."

"One example we have seen is a young person having to spend more than 50 per cent of their benefit income to meet gas and electricity costs. They are relieved to know that through generous food donations from local people, Kingston Foodbank is able to provide some emergency support."

Mr Pickhaver said although most energy companies ran schemes to help those struggling to pay their bills, not enough was done to raise awareness of them.

The assessment process for the schemes also took too long, he said, with some customers waiting six to 10 weeks for a response.

Mr Pickhaver said: "That's a very long time for someone already in crisis and struggling with the huge pressure that brings on individuals and families."

The foodbank organiser also called for a lower rate scheme to be made available to people on small incomes using pre-pay meters.

He said: "It's simply wrong that the very poorest people in Kingston have to pay more per unit for their gas and electricity use than the richest."

"Something should be done to address that urgently."

Signal delays – but new trains on way

South West Trains is testing a fleet of new carriages, designed to carry 23,000 more peak-time passengers a day.

The £65m trains will enter service this winter.

But the operator was forced to apologise to commuters again last week after signal problems caused massive delays.

Signal boxes at New Malden all switched to red when their power supply malfunctioned, leaving hundreds of passengers stranded throughout the borough.

A spokesman for the Network Rail and South West

Trains Alliance said: "We apologise for delays to services in and out of Waterloo on October 23 caused by a signalling issue in the New Malden area."

"We work 365 days a year to maintain and improve the infrastructure along the route to provide a safe and reliable service and will continue to invest millions of pounds to achieve this, and boost capacity."

"It is a challenge to access the railway to carry out significant works but we continue to plan for further upgrades to provide a better service."

Rose Theatre's new shows seem to be in poor taste

Firstly I am, and always have been, a supporter of the Rose Theatre.

However, I was horrified when I picked up a flyer for Oedipussy to see on the reverse side a man with an instrument that looked like a screwdriver in one hand, aimed at a baby being held by the leg, in the other.

Furthermore, the production is listed as containing incest, violence, mutilation and nudity.

Alarming, this production is recommended for audiences 14+.

I am not prudish, but in today's climate, when we hear of children suffering and dying at the hands of their parents, and the former leader of Kingston Council currently awaiting sentencing for charges of possessing, making and distributing indecent images of children, such production choices seem ill-considered and in poor taste.

Furthermore, I am concerned about the visiting production of Masks and Basques at the Rose. The audience is invited to: "Come out and play with the most decadent creatures of the night at the naughtiest, sauciest party to have ever fought her way through the doors of the Rose... sumptuous burlesque, opulent cabaret, hedonistic circus and wanton bands come together to make your wildest dreams come true."

Am I alone in finding these choices of production distasteful in a venue "for the community"?

Greenway Hearing about group's beliefs is useful

Perhaps the politicians behind the yellow and green-painted scheme at Tolworth Broadway hope it advertises their party?

I feel they may regret this, because the colours provide a permanent reminder to residents of who created this absolutely insane and wasteful scheme.

I only hope that the green and yellow is not soon covered with blood red.

With regards to the purchase of the Worcester Park Tavern for a possible community centre for the Ismaili community; the really positive thing is that there has already been an open meeting ahead of any planning application and we are hearing what the group's core beliefs are.

It would be useful to know what any group setting up in the area believes, whether Islamic, Christian or political. However, I do not advocate banning a group because I disagree with it.

It is unclear how many users would live locally, but if they feel Worcester Park would be a safe haven, free within reason from racism, that is something we need to be proud of.

There of course remains issues of parking, etc, but it is hard to imagine that there would be more cars or more noise than the large public house in the past, but that can be dealt with as appropriate when a formal planning application is made.

Compare this to the bank chambers application across the road where we remain unclear what the ideology of the applicants is.

If it is indeed the Ahle Sunnat Wal Jama'at, as indicated by this paper, then that group managed to get itself banned in Pakistan, which is quite an achievement.

However, the pattern of repeated applications and public hearings unfortunately mirror the situation at the Abbey Mills Mosque in Newham, which has now gone on for more than 10 years.

Details sketchy on Barton Green's fate

On the face of it, Kingston Council appears to have been, and is being, somewhat furtive in its decision to sell off Barton Green pavilion.

At a meeting at Coombe Girls' School, two of the councillors advised the residents and "interested parties" of the council's decision and that, although we were informed that originally £150,000 had been set aside for repairs, the cost was well above this figure so the council had decided on "disposal" - with no detail of possible further usage.

Despite the question being posed, the councillors could not tell the meeting how much the final figure for repair was, stating this was "sensitive" information. It also came to light that the council had only obtained one estimate for the repairs and no information would be given out about the repairs needed or the alleged "riddled with asbestos" statement.

It was obvious to all at the meeting that it was a

"done deal" and the only reason for the meeting held by the two councillors was because they wanted the pavilion to stay as a community building - presumably despite the desires of their council colleagues - and they wanted to inform residents of the "community right to bid". It was not denied that the council would probably sell to the highest bidder for whatever purpose.

I would add that there are badgers under or around the pavilion (many accredited sightings at night) and it was also understood that when the brewery originally sold the land to the council for residential development that there would be an "open space" (the green itself) and that the pavilion would be kept and used as a social amenity for the residents, although it has not been possible to access the original documents to ascertain whether this is so.

PROMOTIONAL FEATURE

What are cat hairballs?

Hairballs, officially known as Trichoboza, are a relatively common problem in cats. While they may be unpleasant for both you and your cat, they are not usually cause for major concern.

Cats can spend around 30% of their waking hours grooming. Their highly efficient tongues act as a comb and remove the loose hair from the coat. This hair then gets swallowed and passes into the digestive tract and can form a compressed ball or wad of hair.

Often these will be passed through the digestive system, but your cat may regurgitate them instead. First signs you may notice are your cat appearing to retch as if he needs to vomit, followed by bringing up a mat of hair, or you may see saliva/mucus type deposits with hair in and around the home.

Prevention and Treatment

Grooming your cat is one of the most effective ways of reducing the incidence of hairballs. Grooming is also useful as it can stimulate endorphins, giving a 'feel good factor', help promote hygiene and trigger the release of the skin's natural lubricating oils.

There are a number of different brushes available which will help to remove loose hair: ask in your local pet shop for their recommendation.

There are a number of different brushes available which will help to remove loose hair

Nutrition can also play a part in supporting effective transit of hair through the digestive tract. There are foods available that can help alleviate problems with hairballs.

For example, James Wellbeloved complete Hairball cat food is formulated with natural insoluble pea fibre, which can trap swallowed hair and carry it all the way through the digestive tract and into the faeces, thus greatly reducing the incidence of vomited hairballs. The recipe also benefits from being made with natural ingredients and no added artificial colours, flavours or preservatives, and includes omega fatty acids for a glossy coat and a natural probiotic.

If in doubt, speak to your vet...

While hairballs are not usually dangerous, it is important to look out for any changes in your cat's behaviour. If your cat suddenly develops a problem with hairballs it is a good idea to speak to the vet as they will want to ensure that there is no physical or behavioural issue causing them to groom excessively. In severe cases, hairballs can lead to blockages in the digestive tract that may require surgery.

James Wellbeloved Complete Hairball cat food is available in 300g, 1.5kg and 4kg bags.

ACROBATIC ODYSSEY

An acrobatic re-telling of a jealous wife's revenge against her unfaithful husband premieres at the Rose Theatre.

Actors of Dionysus (AOD) return to the High Street venue to debut their production of Euripides' classic Greek tragedy, Medea.

Combining drama and aerial dance, the play has been adapted by David Sturtard and is directed by Abigail Anderson.

The production was first showcased at the Rose in July, when a specially-invited audience of AOD supporters and industry peers were given a sneak peak of the work in progress.

The final version will now premier on Tuesday,

MEDEA

November 12, and run until Friday November 15.

The plot centers on Medea – played by AOD artistic director Tamsin Shasha – whose husband Jason has left her for another woman, telling her story of rejection and revenge.

AOD has been performing ancient Greek theatre for 20 years, and this will be the second time they have performed at the Rose after their 2011 production of Lysistrata.

Pre-performance talks will be given every night of the run by leading academics, and discussions will take place after the show with the creative team allowing theatre goers to gain a greater insight into the play.

Each talk costs £3 for ticket holders.

• Medea; Rose Theatre Kingston, 24-26 High

Street, Kingston; November 12-15, 7.30pm each night and 2.30pm 14th and 15th; £8-£16; to book go to rosetheatrekingston.org or call 08444 821 556.

HOWL OUT

She has been tipped for great things, so the window of opportunity to catch Chloe Howl at relatively close quarters is surely getting smaller by the day, writes Ross Logan.

Luckily, the teenager from Buckinghamshire is heading to McClusky's in Kingston next week for a headline slot at Banquet Records' New Slang night.

Much has been made of Howl's frank and honest lyricism, despite precious little being heard – the Rumour and No Strings EPs being the only records currently to her name.

But it's been enough to see her tipped as one of 2014's next big things, and with a full-length album due out next year as well, her Kingston gig on November 7 is likely to be a "I saw her before she was massive" moment.

Banquet Records manager Jon Tolly said: "She's released the super-catchy singles Rumour and No Strings and her brand of gritty, story-telling pop is currently making her one of the most exciting rising stars of 2013.

"She's just been on tour with new sensation John Newman, soon heading out with Bastille and guested on many prime-time radio shows. If there ever was a time to catch Chloe Howl, it's now."

Howl is supported by London indie outfit Nothing But Thieves.

As always at New Slang, the music doesn't stop once the bands do, as DJs take over and play classic indie anthems until 2am.

LUCK OF THE DRAW

The great class divide will be on full show during a musical fundraising dinner in support of Kingston Foodbank.

Rich Man, Poor Man will see guests draw straws to find who will spend the evening enjoying the luxuries afforded to the very wealthy, and who will be getting a taste of life on the breadline.

Depending on the luck of the draw, you will either be enjoying a classy slap-up meal or eating the same goods available to users of Kingston Foodbank.

The aim is to raise cash as well as awareness of Kingston Foodbank, and the plight of the borough's poverty-stricken.

Musical acts confirmed to play at the event so far include Mandolin Jack and Little Sister Blue.

Organiser Tessa Kind, chair of the Mill Street Residents' Association, says: "Poor men get given disposable plates and cutlery, and eat canteen-style food you can get from the foodbank. Rich men get a glass of champagne at the door."

"Probably about 20 per cent of the guests will be rich men – we want to create a certain level of envy."

• Rich Man Poor Man, St John's Parish Hall, Grove Lane, Kingston; November 22, 7.30pm; £10; richmanpoormanevent@gmail.com.

Charming, fascinating

An Olivier award nominated comedy trio are on a Charm Offensive for their tour which is coming to Kingston's Rose Theatre.

Fascinating Aida are celebrating their 30 years together with their new show Charm Offensive.

The show will be in Kingston for one night only.

Following their sell-out tour in 2012, the performers have gained online notoriety with their Youtube song Cheap Flights – an anthem to budget airline travel.

Earlier this year Fascinating Aida won Best Musical Act in the London Cabaret Awards.

Adele Anderson, Dillie Keane and Liza Pulman's new show will be a mixture of new material and old favorites.

Dillie Keane founded Fascinating Aida in 1983, and since then the group has performed all over the world including Australia, America and South Africa.

Dillie Keane says, "Fed up with the endless recession? Got any money left after paying your bedroom tax, losing your child benefit and being robbed by a Cypriot Bank? If so, cheer yourself up at the cheapest and cheeriest show in town."

• Charm Offensive by Fascinating Aida; Rose Theatre Kingston, 24-26 High Street, Kingston; November 19, 7.30pm; £16-£20.50; rosetheatrekingston.org, 08444 821556.

EXPLOSIONS IN THE SKY

Bonfire night is just around the corner, and everyone loves going to a good fireworks display, writes Hannah Williamson.

There is nothing better than being wrapped up warm against the cold with a bonfire sizzling in the distance, while watching a variety of vibrant colours explode from rockets lit on the ground. But how are these displays put together? How do they time fireworks so the sky bursts into light perfectly timed with the music?

There isn't a man running round with big match, dodging burning fuses as the explosives hurtle to the sky – it is all done electronically.

WHERE TO WATCH

● Kingston upon Thames Round Table & Rotary Club Fireworks Display:

Kingsmeadow stadium; November 1, gates open at 6.30pm, fireworks at 8pm (last entry at 7.45pm); £5 adults adv, £3 children adv (5-11 years).

● Community firework night: St George's Church, Hamilton Avenue, Tolworth; November 5, from 6.30pm to 8pm; £3.50 adults, free for under 16; call Ian Mole on 020 8391 5682 for more info.

● Surbiton Family Fun Fireworks Display: Berrylands Scout Hut, Stirling Walk, Surbiton; November 5, gates open at 6.30pm, bonfire at 7.30pm, fireworks at 8pm; £7 adults, £4 children; scoutgroup.co.uk, 020 8399 6747.

Chris Elcocks, managing director of Vulcan Fireworks UK, says: "We have a designer or choreographer whose job it is to listen to the music and decide which fireworks are going where and when they will burst. He has to take into account how long each firework is going to last."

But with the fireworks for community displays costing about £12,000 to £13,000 dress rehearsals are out of the question. So how do they know their timing is right?

Elcocks says: "It takes years of experience and getting to know the different fireworks. For a 20-minute show the design process takes about a week, the timing, effect and colour all have to be considered."

StaySafe

If you are putting on your own home fireworks display you could muddle through, or you could ask a pro for help.

He says: "We try and find out what the age of the party is. Some people, if they have got young ones, they just want a selection box."

"We start them off with the fountains and pretty stuff for the little ones, and build up to the barrages."

"At the other end of the scale you get the builders come in – they want the really extravagant and the really loud stuff."

Glass sounds one note of warning: don't be silly with your fireworks: "Fireworks are safe as long as you follow the codes. Every accident I've heard of has been because of human error. It's always been because people have got complacent with them."

SALAD DAYS

The veggie option used to be a synonym for “some salad bashed together using whatever’s left in the fridge”, writes Mike Pyle.

Times have changed though and the world of the vegetarian is not nearly as restrictive as it once was, meaning more people than ever are eschewing meat.

Government statistics say about 2 per cent of the UK population – about 1.2m people – is vegetarian although independent research suggests the figure could be as high as 11 per cent, with double as many women as men choosing not to eat meat.

The figure is rising as well, as is the number of people choosing to go vegan by cutting out any products that have come from animals, including milk, cheese and even many beers and wines that are commonly made using animal derivatives. The Vegan Society estimates there are at least 150,000 vegans in the UK but says this could be conservative.

So, why give up meat? The ethical arguments have been debated for years and are quite divisive, but there can be real health benefits, provided people still manage to balance and vary their intake.

Richmond-based vegan entrepreneur Leah Grant says: “The first benefit I noticed from going vegan was that my energy tripled. I used to catch colds really easily as well and recently three people have caught colds around me in my office and I’ve been the only one who’s got away with it because I’m dosed up on natural medicine.

“I don’t need to watch my weight anymore because it’s such a low-fat diet and it means I can eat whatever

I want – I know that sounds contradictory considering being a vegan is quite restrictive, but I’ve always loved salad and vegetables.”

As the numbers of vegetarians rises, so does the choice on offer to them. Grant says she has noticed more venues with a wide range of meat-free and even vegan alternatives on the menu.

Chains like Nando’s and Pizza Express recently revamped their menus to include more vegetarian options and London is full of falafel, sushi and curry restaurants where many dishes are meat-free.

The range of produce available to the home cook is increasing too. The fruit and veg sections in most supermarkets have got bigger and bigger in recent years with exotic offerings available all year round.

Property being bought in double quick time

Now takes about a month from instruction to sale

Homes in south west London are selling in double quick time according to some local agents.

Many properties are selling within four weeks of the for sale signs going up with some achieving pre-recession prices.

Ian Roberts area director for Your Move in south west London said:

"My group of offices is simply selling out of property. Out of the properties new to the market last week 75 per cent have already had offers and 50 per cent have now been accepted.

"Over the last three months we have seen our instructions achieve a sale agreed within the first four weeks of marketing. The buyer confidence has increased over the last two quarters with record registrations in September."

TAMASIN COATES

property@london.newsquest.co.uk

He advised buyers to seek financial advice early before making an offer and cautions that property prices are increasing due to high demand and lack of stock.

Demand for property in and around the capital remains high says the latest study from property website

Home.co.uk which says the average time taken to sell a property in the capital is 49 days or even less.

Areas to the south of the Thames which offer good value are showing the shortest selling times it says.

The report adds that the time it takes to agree a sale is influenced by a multitude of factors such as the property's ability to stand out from others, supply and demand for a particular type of property – for example family homes.

But the price of the home and its location is still the most important factor says the report.

More over 55s buy new

An increasing number of over 55s are buying new homes, according to new figures from the National House Building Council (NHBC).

The latest report shows the proportion of new homes sold to over 55s has increased by a third from 17 per cent to 23 per cent over the last five years.

Meanwhile the proportion of younger people buying new homes has decreased with the largest proportional drop in the under 25 bracket. This figure dropped by a quarter from over eight per cent in 2008 to less than six per cent this year.

NHBC commercial director Richard Tamayo said: "There are interesting signs of a demographic shift in the types of people who are buying new build properties in the UK.

New homes are a particularly attractive option for the older generation as they are cheaper to run, easier to maintain, safer and provide protection through the NHBC warranty."

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newquest Media Group ("Newquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that:

i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;

ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);

iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.

5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.

6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.

9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.

13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.

14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.

15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Method of payment

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods:

- CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWQUEST (LONDON) LTD.
- BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices.
- CREDIT/DEBIT CARD - Please phone to pay by Visa/Mastercard/Switch/Delta

SPOONS and cars

Uri Geller is one of the world's most famous mystics, famous for, among other things, his ability to bend spoons with his mind. Born in Israel, he is a sought-after motivational coach and counts Premier League footballers, industrialists, Formula One drivers, boxers and racing cyclists among those he has helped. Matt Westcott talks to Uri about spoons and cars.

What was your first car?
My first car was a Susita. It was an Israeli-made car that was made from fibreglass. At one of my shows I left the hall and I found a camel chewing it. We are going to back to 1968 or 69 and I would have been in my early 20s.

Me&MyMOTOR

MIND-BENDING URI GELLER

How many times did it take to pass your driving test?
I passed my test first time. I was in the paratroopers and you did your test in a very big lorry. I have driving licences for lorries, tanks and motorcycles. I wasn't a tank driver, but someone allowed me to drive one. That was pretty amazing.

What is your dream car?
I would never buy an expensive car, you won't find me driving a Bentley, a Rolls Royce or a Ferrari. But I have the most extraordinary car in the world. It's a 1976 Cadillac Fleetwood that has 2,500 spoons riveted to its body. Most of them were given to me by people like Elvis Presley, John Lennon, Salvador Dali and so on. Whenever people come to my house and I ask them to guess what kind of car I am going to show them before the garage door opens everyone says Lamborghini, Ferrari, Rolls Royce. When it opens they freak out and immediately they smile.

What is playing on your in-car iPod or CD player?

We generally listen to the radio. I listen to popular channels like Magic etc, anything that has popular music on.

What do you drive now and why?

Our ordinary cars are people carriers. We have a Chrysler Voyager because we often drive around with three, four, five, six, seven or eight people onboard. It seats eight comfortably.

I HAVE DRIVING LICENCES FOR LORRIES, TANKS AND MOTORCYCLES

Driving the news

PLUNGED INTO DARKNESS

The clocks went back at the weekend – which means the nights have well and truly 'drawn in'.

Top advanced driver Peter Rodger of road safety charity the Institute of Advanced Motorists gives drivers some helpful advice on negotiating roads in the dark.

- Keep your lights and windscreen clean. It's easy to forget the inside of the windows, but keeping them clean helps prevent them from misting-up.

- Use main beam on a dark unlit road, but make sure you dip your lights to avoid dazzling the oncoming road users.

- If an approaching car forgets to dip its lights, look beyond the lights to their left to avoid being dazzled as much.

- Stopping safely within the distance you can see to be clear still applies in the dark.

- Look at how the traffic ahead behaves for clues to possible problems you can't see yet – the way other lights behave can tell you a lot.

- Use the reflective road signs and lines to help you see where the road goes.

- Use the headlights of the car you are following to let you see further ahead.

- Don't look at any lights but at what they show – so you can make use of more of the light there is without losing your 'night vision'.

- If it's gloomy in the morning, don't forget to put your lights on then too.

Warner misses out on Sochi swansong

Kingston Kestrels sledge hockey club's Ian Warner will not be making a third winter Paralympics appearance in 2014.

The 38-year-old Team

GB captain, pictured right, saw his side lose all five of their matches in last week's final qualification tournament in Turin.

GB conceded 41 goals in defeats to Italy, Sweden, Japan, South Korea and Germany, scoring only seven themselves.

Warner had previously appeared at the Nagano and Turin Paralympics.

Miserable weekend

Surbiton's men conceded nine goals and scored just one as they lost in the MHL Premier Division and crashed out of the Men's Cup in the same weekend.

Coach Todd Williams' side lost 5-1 at Canterbury on Saturday – Matt Daly, pictured below, got the late consolation effort – before following that with a 4-0 cup exit at trophy holders Cannock.

Surbiton, who host Reading on Saturday, will have to recover quickly from the set backs to maintain hopes of a top four finish.

Surbiton Ladies will do some soul searching during their weekend off after slipping to sixth in the WHL Premier Division table on Saturday.

Coach Brett Garrard's team lost 2-1 at Canterbury to drop out of the top four.

Shaw thing

Kingston AC & Polytechnic Harriers' Sam Shaw ran a blistering last leg to help his U13 boys team win the Bruce Judd Surrey Young Athletes' Cross Country Relays in Guildford on Saturday.

The 13-year-old clocked eight minutes five seconds to come home in first place after Daniel Merighi (8:20) and then Jorge Beltrao (8:07) had handed over the baton in third.

Stragglers Running Club's U13s finished second, with final leg runner Matthew Kosatz clocking 7:43 as his team finished five seconds behind Kingston.

Andre goals with flow

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Kingstonian striker Andre McCollin has vowed to find his shooting boots and get Ks back to winning ways.

Boss Alan Dowson's men made it back-to-back defeats as they crashed 2-0 at Lowestoft Town on Saturday after last week's FA Trophy exit.

McCollin, without a goal in his last two appearances, was guilty of being profligate in front of goal, alongside fellow shot shy strike partner Ryan Moss.

But the former Yeovil Town front man has promised to get back on form when Leiston visit this weekend.

"I think the squad has got a bit complacent," he said.

"At the beginning of the season we were flying and we need to maintain that, but we seem to think we are better than we are.

"Myself and Ryan missed a couple of chances at the weekend and I think if we had scored them we would have won.

"The game against Leiston is a great one to get back to form.

"I haven't scored for a little while and that has to change. I'll be dusting those boots off this weekend."

Alan Dowson strengthened his back four and midfield to little effect last week, having swooped to sign Carshalton Athletic full back Bruce Hogg and ex-Salisbury City midfielder Josh Casey.

Former Chipstead man Hogg made the switch last Wednesday in the wake of boss Tommy Williams' recent exit from the Ryman Premier League strugglers and he comes with a glowing reference from the ex-Ks midfielder.

Dowson had vowed to bring in two new faces and made good on his promise with the addition of Casey on Friday.

"Tommy swears by Bruce as a defender and rates him as one of the best players he has worked with," said the boss.

"Hopefully, he will give us the lift we need."

Old Emanuel enjoy fruits of new strength in depth

Director of rugby Fergus McCarthy has put Old Emanuel's solid start to the new Surrey Division Two season down to a new found strength in depth, writes Stuart Amos.

The New Malden club made it an unbeaten October, with Saturday's six-try 39-0 thrashing of Old Rutlishians adding to two wins and a draw earlier in the month.

The run, which has also secured safe passage to the second round of the RFU's National Junior Vase, has seen McCarthy's men score 116 points and concede just 12 – all from penalties.

"The club has been a happy place through last season and this year we have put it together by defending well as a team," said the rugby director.

"Coach Paul Wilson has high intensity and technical training sessions that the players enjoy.

"With a strong second team also having a fine season, there is the strength in depth necessary with changes forced by players with busy careers in London."

Kingston ended a run of three straight Surrey One defeats with a 15-10 home win over Thames Ditton-based Old Paulines.

Head coach Earle Wilkes' men, knocked out of the Vase last week, had not won a game this season prior to the weekend and will be out to repeat the trick at Old Tonbridgians this week.

SPORTSbrief

FOOTBALL: Frankie Chappell broke Corinthian Casuals hearts as his 80th minute strike gave Folkestone Invicta a 3-2 Ryman Division One South win at King George's Field on Saturday. Jamie Byatt had levelled matters at 2-2 four minutes earlier, but boss Brian Adamson's men were denied a vital point in their battle against the drop. Casuals are at high-flying Peacehaven & Telscombe.

ATHLETICS: The presence of Phillip Bearman and Neil Wellard could only help Kingston AC & Polytechnic Harriers' U17 boys team to fifth place at the Bruce Judd Surrey Young Athletes' Cross County Relays on Sunday.

SWIMMING: Kingston Royals host their third Club Championships gala of the new season at the Malden Centre on Friday night.
